

From data to stories: an introduction to the module

Welcome to Module 6, Data Stories. You've learned where to get data from, you learned how to clean up, how to get it ready, even how to analyze it using machine learning. But how do you bring that all together to tell a compelling and interesting data story? So we've got two great tutors for you for this class. Jan Diehm from The Pudding is going to talk about how they bring dates together to tell compelling visual stories and then we're joined by KILN to share how you can use Flourish to tell those stories for yourself.
